

ADAPTIVE APPROXIMATION FOR FINITE ELEMENT METHODS

Peter Binev

University of South Carolina, USA

binev@math.sc.edu

The talk considers the development of the ideas for establishing near-optimal convergence rates for adaptive finite element methods emphasizing on the criteria for refining the adaptive meshes and the distribution of the degrees of freedom over the domain.